The public is rapidly "catching on" to our great made up sales for prost. Yesterday ties crowds were so immense that the town thought the Democratic National Convention had met at our stere right now. People fought for place to buy goods at a profit. Never anything like it.

Folks have heard that kind of talk based on the assertions of selling goods at a loss. We make no pretense. We sell goods at a fair profit. Our friends buy them at a large profit, for they get our experience, artistic taste and expert execution which a large business, with vast facilities, enable us to give. More homes are being decorated in good taste now than ever before.

Accusations Against Kelly.

William Young, of the Red Front saloon, in which Tom Kelly was so badly beaten Tuesday night, acknowledged to a Journal reporter last night that he assaulted Kelly with a revolver. His explanation was that Kelly was trying to coax one of his customers. George Campfield, out of the saloon with the purpose, as he says he be-lieves, of robbing him. Campfield says he entertained the same suspicions toward Kelly. Both charge that Kelly tried to sell some of the handkerchiefs stolen by John Ferriter. To Prevent Contagions. A special meeting of the State Board of Health was held yesterday for the purpose of amending certain rules relative to the spread of contagious diseases. It has been found that the present rules in force are not severe enough, and it is thought by making them more rigid the risk at least will be reduced. The board did not complete its work yesterday, and adjourned to meet next Thursday again.

STREET-CAR ARBITRATION

Mr. Wishard Suggests a New Meeting-Place and the Board Makes a Move.

Inquiry as to the Nature of the Badges Given the Men-Ex-President Shaffer Tells What He Knows in Relation Thereto.

Yesterday was the second day of the labors of the board of arbitration in the hearing of the differences between the brotherhood, or, as the street-railway company prefers to put it, between the employes and that company. The examination of witnesses by the board has been conducted in President Frenzel's room of the street-railway company offices in the Lawyer Wishard, soon after proceedings begun yesterday, rose and said that he had some remarks to make concerning the place in which the examination was being held. "This," said he, "is the source of employment, the source of authority, and while the sun shines brightly outside this morning the atmosphere in here is not as pure as it might be. I think if a full and free investigation is to be made it would be better to go somewhere else." Mr. Wishard also referred to the fact that there were not chairs enough in the room, that the street-railway employes

"To my mind," he continued, "it is a mistake that we came here. I want to go somewhere where there is no kind of restraint, where this thing of employment is not felt. I say this is not the place to hold

Bishop Chatard said: "It has been our desire to do everything we could to benefit the men-to aid the weaker party-and for that reason we are still disposed to do all we can to make them feel they are fairly dealt with. The change of the place seems something difficult just now. We have gone thus far in an examination of docu-ments at hand, here where they can be found readily. I have not seen anything on the part of the company that could be There may be something in what Mr. Wishard has said, but yesterday the men

THE BOARD DECIDED TO MOVE. The members of the board consulted together, and Bishop Chatard, as spokesman, said: "We have considered the remarks of the attorney of the brotherhood, and taken note of the fact that he has expressed himself as he has of his own accord, without any commission from them to do so. We are inclined to think we have allowed a great deal of latitude in every way, and have only insisted on what was necessary for good order and the proper taking of testimony. We do not think there is much ground for censure in regard to the mode of procedure. We are inclined to do all we can to be perfectly just and impartial. In regard to a change of place there has been nothing here that we have seen or heard that gives ground for a suspicion that any pressure is brought to bear upon the men, yet at the same time we recognize that such a feeling might exist among the men. Purely out of regard for the men, and for no other reason, we have concluded to accept the suggestion of Mr. Wishard, and, if agreeable to Mr. Frenzel and the other parties, we will adjourn to the office of Judge Howe, as Mr. Wish-ard has expressed himself willing to go there. If the gentlemen on the other side have any objection to the offer, we can go to some other place."

Mr. Frenzel: "No objection whatever."
The board, lawyers, reporters and witnesses then took their way to Judge Howe's rooms in the Hubbard Block. The Judge was determined that everybody should be seated and went out among his neighbors and borrowed apong heads. neighbors and borrowed enough chairs to entertain a ward primary, Judge Howland, his partner, bringing in a large arm-chair for Bishop Chatard as chairman of the

Mr. Allen, attorney for the company, had come into possession of a notice which had been posted at the several barns. The copy he produced had been found at the College-avenue barn. He was of the opinion that this was the notice to which Mr. Wishard had referred as enlarging the privileges of the employes.

A NOTICE ON THE BADGE QUESTION. It was headed "Notice to Employes," and read as follows: The employes' badges which are now being worn are to be called in and a new pattern of badge issued in their stead. In the futere, employes' badges will entitle them to free rides upon all the cars at all times. By this we do not mean that we want employes to be riding on the cars continually, but it is our wish to pass them free over the road when it is necessary for them to ride. The new badges are lettered and num-bered the same as the old ones, but are oblong in shape. We will commence issuing them to-night at the Louisiana-street stable office. from 9 to 10 o'clock. It is desirable that all of the employes o'clock. It is desirable that all of the employes who possibly can will get their badges to-night. On Thursday night the new badges will be issued from the office of the New Jersey-street stable from 6 to 9 o'clock. On Friday night the badges will be issued at the office of the Sheiby-street stable from 6 to 9 o'clock. Any time during Thursday, Friday or Saturday, between 8 a. M. and 6 p. M., new badges can be obtained at the office of the company in the Fahr Block.

Both styles of badges will be recognized by drivers and conductors up to Saturday night. drivers and conductors up to Saturday night, but after Saturday night nothing but the new ru will be recognized. I nobe that all of the employes will be as prompt as possible in surrendering their old badges and getting new ones. Below is a copy of the agreement which you are expected to sign when the new badges are ssued. Please read it carefully so that you will understand the matter thoroughly. "We, the undersigned employes of the Citizens' streetrailroad Company, have received of the Citizens' Street-railroad Company pass-badges the numbers of which are placed opposite our names for which we have deposited with said company

$1, and we agree to return said badges whenever requested to do so or when leaving the employ of the company. The Citizens' Street-railron Company agrees to carry free upon its cars all of its employes who display while on the cars these badges on the outside of their outside coats when passengers on said company's cars and reserve the right to withdraw the privilege at any time without notice. "We further agree to render the drivers and conductors all the assistance possible in case of "In case of failure on our part to return the badges the numbers of which appear opposite our names when requested to do so, but when leaving the employ of the company, forfeits all our claim of money deposited."

A. ANDERSON. Secretary and Treasurer. Martin Dugan and James Hughes testified that the foregoing was not the notice to which they had referred. The notice they had read said in effect that Metropolitan and merchant policemen, firemen and employes of the street-railway company should ride free by displaying the pass badges upon the outside of their outside

MR. SHAFFER ON THE STAND. At the afternoon session J. C. Shaffer, former president of the street-railroad company, took the witness-chair.

"If you will permit me," said Mr. Shaffer as he gently seated himself. "I notice by the morning paper that Mr. Wishard had a conference with me, which is a fact, but it took place on Sunday afternoon prior to my going to St. Louis. During the agita-tion of this matter I had no conversation with Mr. Wishard or any member of the brotherhood. So there was no connsel on my part. I want it clearly understood that was not consulted in the matter, but simply expressed my sentiments in a dispatch to one of the directors in Chicago. I will tell you in a few sentences my understanding of this matter and my theory of it. I do not want to be considered as antagonistic to the streetrailroad or its policy. These badges were given to the men because they were riding without badges, or checks, or anything. They were given to understand, however, they could ride to and from their work. We would put detectives on the cars to see whether employes were doing their duty. A report would come in that there were twelve passengers in a car and only ten could be accounted for. The other two would be employes. I said it was unfair to make the employes appear dishonest, until it was proven, and suggested badges.
We had badges. They were given to men to ride to and from work. It became apparent that many were riding oftener than only to and from work. I talked the matter over with the superintendents, and it was my judgment that as we called upon the men at all hours of the day and night for service, that it would be the proper thing to let them ride: that I would bave them take that privilege and disobey the rules of the company. Possibly some of them abused that privilege. As a stock-holder, and one of the directors in this company, I said I was in favor of giving men the right to ride in the cars, whether going to or from work or for their own benefit."

Mr. Allen-When you came here were they not riding on their uniforms? Mr. Shaffer-Many of them didn't have uniforms. They were uniform caps. Bishop Chatard-In regard to this matter of the men being allowed to ride, did you ever make it formally known to them that they could ride when they wished?

COULD RIDE AT ALL TIMES. Mr. Shaffer-Yes, sir. It was made known to them when they were given their badges, and I think in a special order put up in the barns. Some badges were lost, and some persons were riding who were not employes. We had other badges made and the first called in, and in that way checked the possibility of persons not in the employ of the company riding upon Mr. Allen-Didn't the men do just the same duties before the badge was issued as Mr. Shaffer-That I could not answer definitely. I do know one of the reasons was we did not want to have a rule that could not be enforced. We could not get the men to just ride to and from their work, and so we enlarged it. It was my judgment and desire the men should have this privilege of riding. Mr. Anderson, Mr. Lewis and Mr. Steele hired and discharged the men while I was president. Mr. Anderson did most of it. The street-railroad company always reserved the right to withdraw the badges when they chose. If the men had come to me I should have advised against the strike. Robert Felton, who is a conductor on the Virginia-avenue line, testified that he saw a notice bearing the title "Who shall ride free. He said it included Metropolitan and Merchant policemen, members of the fire department and employes, and that when they rode it should be with their pass badges displayed on the outside of their outside coat. The testimony of J. P. Riggs was of a like character. John Corless testified to having seen and read a like notice, Philip Boutwell, foreman at the Thirteenth-street stable, called by the company, testified to the paper introduced by the company as having been posted Beck Lowe also testified to the same. He was followed by Ethan Allen Brown, foreman of the Louisiana-street barn, who testified to having put up the notice pany's charter, several members of Council (shown him by Mr. Allen) at the Colge-avenue barn. Arthur secretary and treasurer of the company testified to having written and published most of the orders and notices of the company, "I never understood," he said, "that the men felt there was any consideration or right (attached to the issuing of the badges) until the recent difficulty. The badges were issued because the men were using them as they pleased when the instructions were to use them only when going to and coming from work. We looked upon it as an incentive for them to practice deception, and I said to Mr. Shaffer they had better have them anyhow. I did not consider they were entitled to it, but thought it better to let them have it and understand they had it. (That is, the priv-nege to ride on the badges at all times.") The board then adjourned until 9 A. M. to-

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Issuing University Entrance Commissions t Various High-Schools.

A special meeting of the State Board of Education was held yesterday afternoon in the board rooms at the Capitol. There were present: Superintendent Vories, ex officio chairman; J. W. Layne, of Evansville; L. H. Jones, of Indianapolis; James H. Smart, of Lafayette; W. W. Parsons, of Terre Haute; W. H. Wiley, of Terre Haute, and Governor Chase. John M. Coulter, of Bloomington, a member of the board, was unable to attend on account of illness. The purpose of the meeting was to consider the issuing of commissions to the highschools of the State that are considered worthy of it to permit them to allow their graduates to enter the State colleges without entrance examinations. This is in pursuance to an order made by the State Board of Education at its meeting Oct. 22, 1888, as follows:

It is ordered: That hereafter no high-school commission be granted except on a favorable report in writing, to be made to the State Board of Education, by some member of the State board, who shall visit the high-school in question, as a committee of the State board, for that That all the high-schools now in commission be visited by committees of the board as soon as may be, and that the present list be modified by the reports from such vis. lation. That in case of change of superintendent i any commissioned high-school, the commission then existing shall be in force until a visitation shall be made by a committee of the State board For such visitation and inspection the State Board of Education has assigned the congressional districts of the State to its members as follows: Mr. Layne the First and Second, Mr. Jones the Third and Seventh, Mr. Coulter the Fourth and Sixth, Mr. Wiley the Fifth and Eighth, Mr. Vories the Ninth, Mr. Parsons the Tenth and Thirteenth and Mr. Smart the Eleventh and Twelfth. Each member of the board must visit each of the high-schools in each county of his assigned districts.

The preparation of a list of examinations for teachers, applicants for State or professional licenses, will also be made by the board at its present meeting. The board will prepare a circular, to be distributed among the high-schools seeking commissions, relating to the proper sort of apparatus to be used in the laboratory work. W. N. Hailman, the educational agent of the indiana world's fair board, was given a few moments in which to tell what has been done and what remains yet to be done in this branch of Indiana's exhibit. The board indorsed his actions and pledged him its support in his efforts. The board adjourned at 5:50, to meet this morning, at 8 o'clock, and complete its work.

An amendment to the constitution was adopted, so that at the next election five of the ten directors of the club will be elected to serve one year and the other five for two years. A resolution was also adopted for the appointment of a committee to recommend two tickets at the next meeting. A special meeting will be held Feb. 4, in Room 19, Mansur Block.

Crushed by a Grindstone. While assisting yesterday to move a grindstone into place at the Atkins sawworks, John Burk was seriously injured by the fall of the heavy stone. The workmen lost control of it, and, as it fell, it caught Burk's left leg and crushed the member in a frightful manner. Powers & Blackwell's ambulance removed him to his home, No. 92 Nebraska street. He has a family, and is thirty-five years of age.

CONCESSIONS ARE ASKED

If the Water Company Fails to Come to Time There Will Be No End of Trouble.

Councilman Ryan Takes a Stand for the Private Consumer-Will the Company Show Its Books? - Annexation Makes Trouble.

Councilman P. J. Ryan, chairman of the franchise committee, was making a flying trip through the court-house yesterday afternoon, when he was hailed by a Journal

"Are you going to report favorably on the water contract at the next meeting?" he was asked.

"Well," said he, "if we can get the water company to agree to make two concessions. the committee will present a favorable report to the Council, but if it refuses we may not." "What concessions will you ask of the water company?" "The provisions regarding water for sprinkling purposes are complained of freely and we would like to get a concession on that score. There is one other matter that the committee thinks ought to be changed, but I am not at liberty to speak of that just yet. We are going to do the best we can for the private consumers." The Board of Public Works, after spending almost a year in what purported to be an examination into the water contracts of other cities and the material for a new one here, drew up a contract which was signed by the board and the water company. That this contract is agreeable to the water company is shown by the fact that it was accepted without any visible quibble, and that it was drawn up by the Board of Public Works before a single conference with the water company officials had been held. There is a bare possibility that if the water company refuses to grant the concessions which the franchise committee will ask that an unfavorable report will be presented and the Council will refuse to confirm the contract. Although the members of the board say the contract is the best for the city and private consumer that can be drawn under the comhave a different opinion, and are only waiting for a chance to give vent to their ideas. The result of City Attorney Bailey's examination of the water company's charter, as provided in Councilman Young's resolution introduced last Monday night, is looked forward to with interest.

Another point comes up with renewed interest at this time. Not many days ago prominent Democratic member of Council intimated to a Journal reporter that when important franchises came to the new Council for confirmation that that body would exercise the prerogative conferred on it by the city charter and would appoint a committee to examine the books of the corporation asking for the franchise. If this method of ascertaining the business of a corporation should be resorted to there would be a big protest that would shake the city from White river to Pogue's run.

Democratic Councilmen Hedging. The ordinance introduced in the Council, last Monday night, to reannex the Panhandle shops property, will be passed as soon as the committee to which it was referred reports on it. The disannexation of the property was an infamous job at best, and many of the Democrats who supported it are now anxious to retrieve themselves, in a measure, by voting to restore it to city taxation. A Democratic member said to a Journal reporter the other evening:

"It was an outrage to disannex the Pan-handle property and I felt it at the time, but what could I do? I had pledged myself to Austin to vote for disannexation and couldn't go back on him. In all the time I have been in the Council my vote on that ordinance was the only one I could wish to have changed."

When an official talks as this one does it is safe to say he would vote to bring the property back into the dity, and there are many more like him. Mr. Austin will no doubt be at the head of a good-sized lobby on the night the annexation ordinance comes up in the Council. If the ordinance passes the Pennsylvania Company will undoubtedly tear up its tracks and transfer its headquarters to Tail Holt.

SALEM, MASS., March 23, 1891.

When at Stuttgart, Germany, during the Winter 1881-82, I was suffering from a severe attack of Bronchitis, which seemed to threaten Pneumonia. I met, at the Hotel Marquardt, Commander Beardslee, of the United States Navy. In speaking of my sickness, he remarked: "Doctor, you can cure that chest trouble of yours by using an AllCock's Ponous Plaster." "That may be true." I answered, "but where can I get the plaster?" "Anywhere in the civilized world, and surely here in Stuttgart. Whenever I have a cold, I always use one and find relief." I sent to the drug store for the plaster, and it did all that my friend had promised. Ever since then I have used it whenever suffering from a cold, and I have many times prescribed it for patients.

The Allcock's Plaster is the best to be had, and has saved many from severe illness, and undoubtedly, if used promptly, will save many valuable lives. Whenever one has a severe cold he should put on an Allcock's Plasten as soon as possible. It should be placed across the chest, the upper margin just below the neck; some hot beef tea, or milk, will aid in the treatment. This is not a patent remedy in the objectionable sense of that term, but a standard preparation of value. The government supplies for the United States Army and Indian Hospital stores contain ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS, and the medical profession throughout the world is well aware of their reliability and excellence.

I shall always recommend it, not only to break up colds, but as useful in allaying pains in the chest and in the back. It is a preparation worthy of general confidence.

and we will mail you a plat of Tuxedo Park showing the unsold lots, the price and terms of payment. By saving from $5 to $10 per month you can pay for a lot, and in that time it will double in value. C. H. & E. J. Rickert, 58 E. Market St.
